All Agree: the Campaign Is Too Long

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Now, with the talking done and the candidates home after logging enough miles to reach three-quarters of the way to the moon, a familiar, haunting question remains, more vivid than ever.

Some of the candidates themselves raised it as the 1964 race dragged toward a close: Is the brutal length of the American presidential campaign necessary?

There seems no intelligent reason for the length of it. But, as in the past, almost certainly nothing will be done to shorten it. Yet, a much shorter campaign would be physical blessing to the candidates and a kindness to the voters.

The British election campaign lasts three weeks. The American spreads over months. Surely all the candidates have to say could be said in a month or less. That was particularly true this year.

The views and positions of President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater were so well known before the campaign began that all their speechmaking added nothing basically new. More than ever in these days of television a candidate doesn't have to dart into every nook and cranny of America to "meet the folks." He can state his case close up on the television screen in practically every living room.

It doesn't make sense about the best explanation why nothing will be done is that the stretched-out campaign has become an American tradition which every four years now requires bands, boos, cheers, processions, speeches in coliseums and on street corners, and assorted brands of corn.

Yet, the presidential campaign as we know it is new in this century, getting its start in (Continued on Page Two)

Clergy Get 2nd Chance for SS Aid

Otis A. Blackwood, district manager of the Texarkana Social Security Office, said that recently enacted legislation gives many clergymen whose time for electing social security coverage had expired, another opportunity to obtain this protection for themselves and their families.

The law now extends the period to obtain social security coverage for most clergymen until April 15, 1965.

If a clergyman wishes to join the 440,000 clergymen who have already elected coverage, the time during which he may take this action is relatively brief. If he does not make the election by April 15, 1965, he will be permanently barred from obtaining social security coverage.

The first thing a clergyman should do is obtain a social security number if he does not already have one. Next he should file Form 2031, Waiver Certificate to Elect Social Security coverage by Ministers, with the Internal Revenue Service. Then, if he has not already done so, he will have to report his earnings from the ministry and pay social security taxes on them to the District Director of Internal Revenue for 1962 and all later taxable years.

You may secure Form 2031 and information regarding the filing of tax returns from the Social Security Office in Texarkana.

Election at Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here are some key facts on today's general elections:

At stake: The presidency, governorships of 25 states, 35 Senate seats, all 435 House seats.

Turnout: About 71 million expected to vote.

Hours: First polls opened one minute after midnight in some rural New England areas, voting extends to 2 a.m. EST Wednesday in western Alaska.

Weather: Generally fair and mild predicted for most of the nation.

Pre-election polls: Most polls indicate victory for President Johnson.

Kennedy vs. Keating Top for Congress

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The people do more than elect a president today — they elect a Congress that can make or break his legislative program.

And, while electing a Congress, they put the political spotlight on men who may figure dramatically and powerfully in presidential elections to come.

Robert F. Kennedy, should he defeat incumbent Kenneth B. Keating for a New York Senate seat, might become a force on which all Democrats would have to reckon in future national conventions.

In the Republican party, Robert Taft Jr. might reach the same heights of influence and power should he defeat incumbent Stephen A. Young for an Ohio Senate seat.

All mathematical odds forecast a Democratic-controlled Congress after today's vote. That, of course, would mean legislative trouble for Republican Barry Goldwater if he were elected president — as it would for any president if Congress were controlled by the opposition party.

But a Democratic Congress would not necessarily mean all roses for a triumphant President Johnson. Democratic Congresses, in recent years, have refused to accept more than a part of the program tendered by Democratic presidents.

Both sides predict modest gains in the election of 35 of the Senate's 100 seats. Barring a violent upheaval by the electorate, the Senate should maintain much the same character it had in the last Congress. The break-down then was 66 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

At adjournment, the lineup of the House was 257 Democrats to 178 Republicans, including five vacancies. With all 435 seats at stake this year, both sides are predicting gains of at least 15 seats.

If the Democrats are right, the gain might be enough to ease much of a Democratic president's legislation through Congress.

But, if the Republicans are right, the Democratic losses might be enough to ensure that a conservative coalition in the House could hold a veto over all legislation.

Tony Randall Is Expert at Losing Jobs; Fired in All Entertainments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Randall, whose comic talents won him film stardom, is something of an authority in three fields — opera, Italian renaissance painting, and the art of losing jobs.

In the last-named field Tony feels he is probably unique. "So far as I know," he said, "I'm the only performer who has been fired in every medium — twice in radio, once in television, once in the theater, and once in films."

Tony never let the dismissals break his spirit. "It's an awful thing to go through," he remarked, "but I thought the other fellow was wrong in each case."

"You have to feel that way, I suppose, but there is a possibility I was right. Anyway, none of the shows I was fired from was a success. Disaster followed every time, and I hope the moral is clear: Don't fire Tony Randall."

Right now there aren't many people standing in line trying to get Tony off the payroll. Instead they're bidding for his services. The slender, dark-haired comedian recently completed a

25 States Will Elect a Governor

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-five governors will be elected today, with the races in Illinois, Michigan and Arkansas getting most of the national attention.

In Illinois, Republican Charles H. Percy, 45, is trying to turn back the second-term bid of Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner, 58.

Percy, a protégé of former president Dwight D. Eisenhower, has endorsed and supported GOP presidential candidate Barry Goldwater but has pointed to differences he has with the Arizona.

National interest in Arkansas stems from the fact that a Republican, Winthrop Rockefeller, 52, is given an outside chance to turn aside the bid of Democratic Gov. Orval Faubus, 54, for a sixth two-year term.

Faubus, who won his first term in 1954, has been governor almost as long as Rockefeller, brother of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, has lived in the state.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney, 56, one of the new faces who scored Republican victories in 1962, is after a second term in the State House. Romney has not endorsed Goldwater.

Neil Staebler, 51, long a prominent figure in Democratic politics in the state, is Romney's opponent. Currently the state's congressman-at-large, Staebler has been trying hard to tie Romney to Goldwater.

Of the 25 governorships at stake today, 18 are held by Democrats, 7 by Republicans.

Including holdovers, the national lineup now is 34 Democrats and 16 Republicans.

In Texas, Gov. John B. Connally, one of President Johnson's closest personal and political associates, is seeking a second term, and political observers give him a clear edge.

Opposing Connally, 47, who was wounded in Dallas last Nov. 22 when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, is Republican Jack Crichton, 48, a Dallas oil man.

In Arizona, Richard Kleindienst, 41, a Goldwater field director before the San Francisco convention, seeks to succeed another close friend of Goldwater, Paul Fannin. Fannin is running for Goldwater's Senate seat.

"Kleindienst's Democratic" opponent is Sam Goddard, 45, Harvard-educated Tucson attorney.

"What we have been doing is wrong," he said. "The trouble is that some people would rather be quiet than give up the material things that they have gained by remaining quiet."

"They would rather remain quiet and take a chance, a chance that maybe, just maybe, our people might be different, that we might not be like the Romans, we might not be like the Greeks, like the Babylonians." (Continued on Page Two)

The Election

An expected record 71 million voters decide whether Lyndon Johnson or Barry Goldwater leads the nation for the next four years.

President Johnson goes to his Texas hill country polling place to vote the straight Democratic ticket "from the court house to the white House."

Sen. Barry Goldwater votes at a school near his hilltop home in Arizona.

The people do more than elect a president—they elect a Congress that can make or break his legislative program.

Twenty-five governors will be elected, with the races in Illinois, Michigan and Arkansas getting most of the national attention.

National
Nation's auto industry now has record nine-month earnings in all the Big Three companies. General Motors reports $1.36-billion profit.

People said he couldn't do it but Jack Rice, 16, plays football for Barrackville, W.Va., high school with artificial legs. A jury awards him $15,000 in suit over the accident cause.

Queen Elizabeth opens Parliament with outline of the new labor government's program. Kremlin's new leaders go ahead with plans for an international Communist meeting next month. Emphasis will be on Red unity.

Forty-four Cubans who fled from airliner in Canada make arrangements to go to the United States.

ARKANSAS
A record turnout of half a million voters or more is predicted as Arkansas chooses between veteran Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Republican Winthrop Rockefeller.

The head of the Election Research Council says it's possible that up to 15,000 illegal absentee ballots will be cast in Arkansas' general election.

Some 2,300 people are in El Dorado for the annual session of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention.

Application has been filed with Atomic Energy Commission to build a $12.4 million nuclear reactor near Fayetteville.

With one exception, running for Congress in Arkansas this year is an inexpensive operation.

Will Count Number of Those Voting

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — G. Thomas Eisele, campaign manager for Republican Winthrop Rockefeller, disclosed Monday a plan to guard against the "stealing" of ballot boxes in today's general election.

He said volunteer Rockefeller workers will count the number of persons at each polling place, then compare their figures with the tabulation of the vote count to make sure the figures are similar.

If more votes are reported than Rockefeller workers reported voters, Eisele said, an investigation will be started immediately.

"This is just part of our overall effort to police the election and be sure that it is an honest one," Eisele said.

"Sometimes when the machine needs more votes for their side they have to have the ability to report more votes than were cast. There's an old technique in some areas of withholding both the number of votes cast and the tabulations until late in the evening," he said.

He said the system was just a safeguard and was no reflection on the election judges and clerks. Whatever manipulation is done usually takes place after the judges and clerks have turned in the ballot boxes at the courthouse, Eisele said.

He predicted today's voting would be more honest than ever before.

Truman Among Early Voters

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman was among the early voters today.

The 80-year-old former president, carrying a cane, walked to the polling place three blocks from his home and cast his ballot at 6:30 a.m.

Truman, who was released from a hospital Oct. 23 after falling in the bathroom of his home, said he voted a straight Democratic ticket and for all the bond proposals before the voters.

Choice Today Is Faubus or Rockefeller

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — With the fanfare of one of the most spirited governor's races in history behind them, Arkansas voters chose today between veteran Democrat Orval E. Faubus and Republican Winthrop Rockefeller.

A record vote of from 500,000 to 550,000 was expected from a record poll tax registration of 715,000. The forecast called for fair voting weather—clear skies and moderate temperatures.

Voters also were deciding whether President Johnson or Barry Goldwater will get Arkansas' six electoral votes, but the presidential race never got out of the shadow of the Faubus-Rockefeller contest.

Teamed with Rockefeller on the Republican state ticket were Travis Beeson, candidate for Lieutenant governor, and Charles R. Watson, candidate for secretary of state. Both are political newcomers, running against incumbents.

High interest in proposed Amendment 55, which would legalize gambling in Garland County, also contributed to the big turnout. Six other constitutional proposals also were on the ballot.

Beeson was running against Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, a candidate for a 10th term, and Watson opposed Secretary of State Kelly Bryant, who is seeking a second term.

Faubus and Rockefeller ended their campaigns with television and radio appearances last night. The governor taped a speech in mid-afternoon and they went to Huntsville where he will vote today. Rockefeller finished with a 15-minute talk.

Turnage to Head Xmas Seal Sale

The 1964 Christmas Seal campaign will be headed locally by Dick Turnage. It was announced by Mrs. Fred Ingram, president of the Arkansas Tuberculosis Association. The campaign is scheduled to start November 16, and will run through December 31.

Mrs. Ingram, in praising the past achievements of Dick Turnage, in public service projects, said the association looked forward confidently to a record Christmas Seal Campaign this year under his leadership.

75% Cotton Harvest Is Completed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Over 75 per cent of Arkansas' cotton crop has been harvested, the Agricultural Marketing Service said today.

Some gins are still on a 24-hour schedule, the service said, but most are able to clear their yards of trailers each night. A few scattered fields have been picked clean and the stalks cut, it said.

The Little Rock office has classed 623,000 samples of cotton to date this year, compared to 691,000 by the same time last year. Picking started earlier in 1963, however.

The demand continued strong for most grades of one and one-sixteenth longer staple lengths with middling being sold for 32 to 32.50 cents per pound.

71 Million Expected to Vote Today

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — An expected record 71 million voters decide today whether Lyndon B. Johnson or Barry Goldwater should guide the nation through the next four years.

Mild and fair weather, with few exceptions, make it almost certain that the 68.8 million vote total of 1960 would be far surpassed.

The nation's first returns came from the tiny mountain community of Dixville, N.H. Its eight voters, all registered Republicans, finished balloting at 12:01 a.m. EST. The tally: Goldwater 8, Johnson 0.

While they're picking a president, American voters will also be electing 25 governors, 35 senators, 435 House members and a host of state and local officials.

Right down to the wire, almost every opinion poll and political sign pointed to President Johnson in a walkaway, possibly by the largest popular-vote margin in modern presidential history.

But Sen. Goldwater is used to being behind — he had a long, uphill battle to win the Republican nomination — and he is still hoping for a political miracle.

Both candidates wound up their campaigns Monday night with a pledge.

In his home state, Texas, Johnson said:

"I pledge my total commitment to preserve peace while protecting freedom. I want to reduce the threat of nuclear war — to maintain presidential control over our nuclear weapons — to strengthen our alliances — and to advance the cause of freedom around the world."

In San Francisco, where in July he became the GOP candidate, Goldwater said:

"I pledge, to you, no matter the cost, that from the first day I set foot in the White House until the day I leave that I will level with you, that I will give you an honest administration, that I will tell you the truth."

Both took note, at least indirectly, of the polls.

By voting for him, Goldwater said, "you can prove that you still run this country — not the politicians, not the pollsters, not the computers, none of these."

Johnson spoke like a man who thought he had it in the bag. "The campaign is over," he said. "Our work after this election will be to heal the wounds of the campaign and to rebuild the unity of the people."

Both candidates, and both their vice-presidential running mates, made their political reputations here in Washington as members of Congress.

But today they were back (Continued on Page Two) where they began, and their home towns had an all-American ring: Johnson in Johnson City, Tex.; his vice-presidential candidate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, in Waverly, Minn.; Goldwater in Phoenix, Ariz., and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller, in Olcott, N.Y.

As for polls, they put Johnson ahead at the start of the campaign and they kept him in front all the way.

A couple of the national polls wound up this way:

Dr. George Gallup — 61 per cent of the popular vote for Johnson, Goldwater 32 per cent.

Louis Harris — Johnson 62 per cent, Goldwater 35.

If these figures prove accurate, then Johnson would score higher than the 60.8 per cent racked up by Franklin D. Roosevelt over Alf M. Landon in 1936 or the 60.4 per cent by Warren G. Harding over James M. Cox in 1920.

By contrast, the fabulous cliff hanger of 1960 found John F. Kennedy barely edging his Republican rival, Richard M. Nixon, in the popular vote, 49.7 per cent to 49.5.

Yet in the end the popular vote is meaningless, even though the candidates yearn for every one they can get. In our federal system, winning the states is what counts.

If a candidate wins a state, by no matter how small a margin, he picks up all its electoral votes. That explains why so much time is spent wooing the populous states: New York, with 43 electoral votes; California, with 40; Pennsylvania, with 29; Ohio and Illinois, with 26 each, and Texas, with 25.

The magic number for election: 270 electoral votes.

All presidential campaigns provide a bewildering, and sometimes dismaying, swirl of issues, on the theory that no voter's likes or dislikes or prejudice should be overlooked.

If this campaign had a central theme it probably was this: Should this nation have a large, centralized government, with a strong presidency, or should the power rest more with state and local authorities?

Goldwater constantly hammered on this issue.

"This (Democratic) administration, no matter how you slice it," he said, "wants to pass solutions on to the people from Washington. It is Washington-centered, not state-centered, it is bureaucracy-centered, not individual-centered."

Johnson repeatedly insisted that the federal government had a job to do.

A responsible government," he said, "will not turn its back on workers whose jobs have been taken over by machines." Nor will it turn its back, he said, on poverty or education.

From here a flock of issues emerged: morality in government, war and peace, civil rights, crime in the city streets, nuclear control, communism, Cuba, the Supreme Court.

Aside from the issues each side tried to show, either openly or covertly, that the other side's man simply wasn't fit for the White House.

To spread the word, Goldwater piled up almost 70,000 miles. Miller and Humphrey logged around 50,000 miles apiece.

Johnson apparently had thought it better if he didn't campaign too much — that was the early word from the White House — but in the end, he, too, was a traveling man, with 36,000 miles.

The presidential race always hogs the political spotlight, but in many areas local races attract far more interest.

New York has a honey, with former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late president, trying to unseat GOP Sen. Kenneth Keating.

In Ohio, the Republicans have Rainshowers should begin an eastward sweep of the state tonight, bringing moisture to all sections of Arkansas by Wednesday night, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported today.

By early tonight, the bureau said, showers should affect 40 to 60 per cent of the western half of the state.

The rain is expected to bring some cooling of temperatures, with maximum daytime readings of 76 to 82 degrees today giving way to slightly lower marks in all but Southeast Arkansas Wednesday.

Overnight low readings mostly in the 50s are forecast.

Maximum temperatures Monday ranged from 76 degrees at Fayetteville and Harrison to 82 at Fort Smith.

Overnight low readings ranged from 45 degrees at Little Rock to 57 degrees at Fayetteville and Texarkana.

ARKANSAS — Clear to partly cloudy and mild today and early tonight. Mostly cloudy with showers late tonight and Wednesday. Turning cooler west and north Wednesday. High today 76-82. Lows tonight 55-65.

ARKANSAS — Increasing cloudiness through Wednesday with showers and thunderstorms over 50 per cent of area beginning west this afternoon and spreading over the state Wednesday. Low tonight 55 to 65. High Wednesday 70s.

LOUISIANA — Partly cloudy and mild through Wednesday. Showers affecting 20 to 40 per cent of northwest Wednesday afternoon. Low tonight 54 to 64. High Wednesday 74 to 80.

EASTERN AND SOUTHERN MISSOURI — Increasing cloudiness and continued mild today with showers southwest. Highs today 74-80. Considerable cloudiness with some showers tonight and Wednesday. Not much temperature change tonight. Lows 50s. Cooler Wednesday.

their own famous political name. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of the late senator and grandson of President William Howard Taft, is attempting to beat out Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, peppery and full of fight at 75.

Other Senate races to keep an eye on:

California — Sen. Pierre Salinger, who had been news secretary for both Kennedy and Johnson, against George Murphy, onetime Broadway and Hollywood star, a longtime Republican worker.

Pennsylvania — Genevieve Blunt, Pennsylvania's secretary of state for 16 years who won in 1962 during a Republican landslide against Sen. Hugh Scott, former Republican national chairman who supported Gov. William W. Scranton against Goldwater for the presidential nomination.

Oklahoma — Can a football coach's popularity be transferred to politics? Today Bud Wilkinson, 17 years at the state university — 145 games won, 2 lost — will find out. Wilkinson is running against a 33-year-old Democratic state senator, Fred Harris.

Several governors have real challenges for re-election.

Michigan — Gov. George Romney, at 57 still a possible GOP presidential prospect, faces Rep. Neil Stabler, congressman at large.

Illinois — Gov. Otto Kerner, winner by 500,000 votes in 1960, is up against Charles H. Percy, at 45 one of the Republicans' bright young prospects.

Wisconsin — Gov. John W. Reynolds, a Democrat, is meeting Warren P. Knowles, who served three terms as lieutenant governor.

Arkansas — One of the most colorful races in the land. Gov. Orval Faubus, running for an unprecedented sixth two-year term, is opposed by Republican Winthrop Rockefeller, grandson of old John D. and brother of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

All 43 House seats are to be filled, but only around a fifth of these are hotly contested. None of the leaders, either Republican or Democrat, is thought to be in jeopardy, but each election usually springs a surprise or two.

Democrats were expected to retain control of the House and Senate, especially if the prediction about a Johnson sweep are true. The Republicans' best hope to pick up ground was believed to be in the races for governor.

But for the average voter, ear-weary and eager for it all to end, a fitting epitaph for the 1964 campaign was provided Monday by an aide to the Republican vice-presidential candidate, William E. Miller.

Asked if Miller planned any more speeches, the aide said: "No, it's all been said."

a mild way with Presidents Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson and working up to jets, autos, whistle-stops and amplifiers.

Abraham Lincoln, for instance, not only didn't campaign for the presidency in 1860 or for re-election in 1864, he thought it improper to vote for himself. He had to be persuaded to vote at least for his fellow Republicans.

Between them Johnson and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, in this year's campaign traveled about 90,000 miles and made about 250 speeches.

Goldwater and his vice-presidential partner, Rep. William E. Miller, had a mileage over 100,000 with around 350 speeches. All four endlessly repeated themselves.

Monday, Humphrey spoke of the brutality of the campaign — in its physical effect on the candidates — and wondered whether it couldn't be shortened.

Last week Goldwater thought out loud it might be a good idea if "we could change this crazy system in this country whereby we have to campaign for months and months."

He said, "How nice it would be if we could run a campaign like they do in England and get it over with, but I guess we are not going to be able to do it."

Humphrey mentioned the possibility that the nominating conventions could be held in September instead of July, when the Republicans met, or August, when the Democrats got together.

September conventions would give the candidates no more than four to six weeks of speechmaking hand shaking and racing around the country. Handshaking alone can be a devastating experience for a president, as Johnson's hand-ached hand showed.

which climaxed a giant rally at Robinson Auditorium.

Neither man had much new to say. Faubus remarked that two Rockefeller aides, Thomas Eisele, his campaign manager, and Mrs. Evelyn Elmen, his television advisor, were listed last Saturday as delinquent in their personal property tax payments.

Rockefeller, who watched the Faubus telecast before going to his rally, but he noted that Eisele and Mrs. Elmen paid their overdue taxes Monday.

The Rockefeller broadcast ended with Rockefeller shouting, "On to victory," into a microphone as thousands cheered him.

The rally was an extravagant as Faubus' final appearance was plain. The master of ceremonies was Art James, a television personality from New York. Entertainers — and the first 45 minutes of the show was almost purely entertainment — included Alex Zanetti, a singer from Florida, Ill., and Jimmy Driftwood, a folksinger from Timbo who is nationally known.

Two of Faubus' opponents in the 1962 Democratic primary, Vernon Whitten and David Cox, showed up to cheer for Rockefeller. Whitten has headed an Independents for Rockefeller organization.

Neither candidate would flatly predict victory on election eve. Faubus said he was looking forward to the voting with "considerable optimism." Rockefeller said his polls showed he was continuing to gain strength.

Rockefeller announced that he will stage a party for 12,000 volunteer campaign workers "to regroup, win, lose or draw" next Saturday night in Barton Coliseum.

The two-party aspect and most of the issues of the campaign were submerged in a clash of personalities.

Faubus pegged his campaign to destroying Rockefeller's "false image as a Father Christmas for Arkansas." He did this by mounting a personal attack which he did not abandon until the final days of the campaign.

Rockefeller ran against the Faubus political organization, talking about machine politics and election irregularities spawned by the machine.

Both candidates agreed that industrial development should be accelerated, more money should be provided for education, welfare benefits should be improved and the state should have a good system of rural roads.

Rockefeller said Faubus ran a campaign of "slander, sneers and tears" and refused to discuss the issues. Faubus said Rockefeller hadn't raised any issues worth discussing. He said Rockefeller proposed nothing that the state was not already doing.

Peace Corps anniversary and said that applications are needed from about 10 per cent of the graduating classes of our colleges and universities for the next stage of the Peace Corps.

In a White House statement, the President noted that it was just four years ago today that the late President John F. Kennedy proposed the Peace Corps which now has 10,000 volunteers serving in 46 countries.

In the next four years, the President said, the Peace Corps must double in size because nearly every country where volunteers are now serving has asked for more.

Johnson said more applications are needed, not only from the colleges, but from skilled workers in our factories and on our farms. The Peace Corps, he said, also needs experienced teachers, more doctors, more nurses, and more senior citizens.

every presidential winner since 1900, and some further back than that. They are Coos and Stratford in New Hampshire, Palo Alto in Iowa, Laramie in Wyoming, Teton in Montana and Crook in Oregon.

There are weathervane states, too, such as Nevada and New Mexico, which have been with every winner since 1912. Maryland has missed only once since 1900.

But weathervanes can point the wrong way too. Arizona lost its perfect record when it voted for Republican Richard M. Nixon four years ago, the same fate that befell three previously perfect counties.

The experts will be watching for several indicators tonight, among them possible white backlash votes which could hurt the Democrats and Republican defections from Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy.

One place to watch for backlash is Lake County, Ind., the Hoosier State's biggest Democratic bailiwick. It cast a majority of its votes for Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in a Democratic presidential primary.

Rockefeller presented himself as a "man with a plan." "What plan?" Faubus asked.

It was that kind of campaign. The Johnson-Goldwater race failed to generate the sparks political observers expected from it. Goldwater's supporters put together a statewide organization, but the Democrats responded by bringing the state's two senators and four congressmen out in full feather in behalf of the Johnson-Humphrey ticket.

Most of the political oracles, which had the state leaning toward Goldwater at the star of the race, had it leaning toward Johnson at the end.

Gordon and Bryant did not campaign actively against their Republican opponents. Beeson and Watson campaigned primarily through the Rockefeller organization.

The hottest individual contest outside the governor's race was between Rep. J. W. Trimble and Jerry Hinshaw for Trimble's congressional post in the 3rd District. Hinshaw campaigned vigorously and had Trimble's supporters more concerned than they have ever been.

The campaign for and against Amendment 55 approached the fervor of the governor's race. The Hot Springs Chamber of commerce organized a full-scale campaign for the amendment, the Churches United Against Gambling worked just as fervently against it.

Other constitutional proposals would: increase maximum salaries of state officials, permit creation of taxing districts to finance industry and hospitals, increase taxing power of cities and counties, set up a permanent voter registration system, increase maximum salaries of county officials and permit creation of taxing districts to finance community colleges.

The Republicans also had candidates for four state Senate positions and 27 seats in the Arkansas House. In all the GOP ran 168 candidates for state, federal and county offices.

Willkie Buttons Sell-Out in '64

NEW YORK (AP)—Wendell Willkie buttons are the big sellers at Ben Kaplan's Ye Junk Shoppe.

"I've sold about 1,000 Wendell Willkie buttons so far this fall," he said Monday.

Kaplan gets 50 cents for Willkie buttons, left over from the 1940 campaign when Republican Willkie lost to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

many this spring.

If President Johnson fails to get the 63 per cent Democratic vote the late John F. Kennedy got in Lake County in 1960, his hopes of turning Indiana Democratic for the first time since 1936 could be slim.

In New York Nixon carried six upstate counties by a 3-1 margin and still lost the state. If Goldwater fails to match that, and the 5-4 GOP margin in populous Nassau County dwindles, observers say it could be a Johnson landslide for the state's 43 electoral votes.

Goldwater said Americans are no different, that "human nature has never changed."

He added: "Kick out all the fuzzy talk, the double talk, forget all the accusations, the name calling, and the argument is purely: Are we going to remain free or are we going to be slaves?"

Back in Phoenix Monday night, he got in a final round of handshaking with a cluster of well-wishers who met him at the airport.

Then he headed home. "I don't know where you could uproot another vote right now," he said. "It's getting kind of late."

GOP Denies Instigating Write-in

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican National Committee has disclaimed any knowledge of a campaign to write in Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. for president.

The Negro integration leader repudiated the drive Monday, telling a news conference in Atlanta, "I am willing to risk a guess that it was supporters of Sen. Goldwater who contrived this venomous act."

"This is a cruel and vicious attempt to confuse Negro voters and nullify their votes," said King. "I am not a candidate. Please do not write in my name."

In Washington, a spokesman for the Republican National Committee said: "We know nothing about it. The Republican National Committee has no knowledge of this."

What drew the GOP disclaimer and the King repudiation were leaflets, first reported on the West Coast Sunday night by Democratic party officials, telling "all Negro voters":

"We can vote for Dr. King for president. A write-in vote for Dr. King shows that Negroes are united. It will prove that Negroes will vote for the greatest Negro in America for president."

The leaflets bore the name of the Committee for Negroes in

Sees Try to Halt Racing at Spa

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A proponent of an amendment to legalize gambling in Garland County said today that opponents of Amendment 55 will try to halt horse racing at Oaklawn Park if they defeat the proposal Tuesday.

Haines Hower, public relations man for the Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce made the statement. Dr. Ralph Phelps of Arkadelphia, president of Churches United Against Gambling, said it was made to "cloud the issue."

Phelps said his organization has at no time discussed plans for anything except defeat of Amendment 55.

Hower said the chamber had been receiving reports about a move against horse racing. He said an investigation determined that many persons opposing Amendment 55 were leaders in a 1956 campaign to outlaw race betting in Arkansas.

44 Desert Cuba for U.S. Haven

OTTAWA (AP) — Forty-four Cubans are seeking admission to the United States after walking off a Cubana airliner at Gander, Nfld.

Arrangements are being made to fly the defectors to Canadian immigration detention quarters at Halifax, where they will wait until the United States admits them.

The Immigration service said the Cubans defected after their plane, bound for Czechoslovakia, made an overnight stop at Gander Sunday.

Two Cubans asked for political asylum in the United States Sunday and the other 42 announced their decision Monday. Their plane left for Prague with 36 other passengers aboard.

Among the defectors were Mr. and Mrs. Miguel J. Rosa Galvez, who left the plane with their 2-year-old grandson, Julian de la Rosa. The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de la Rosa, defected in September from a Czech airliner at Gander and are still in immigration custody at Halifax.

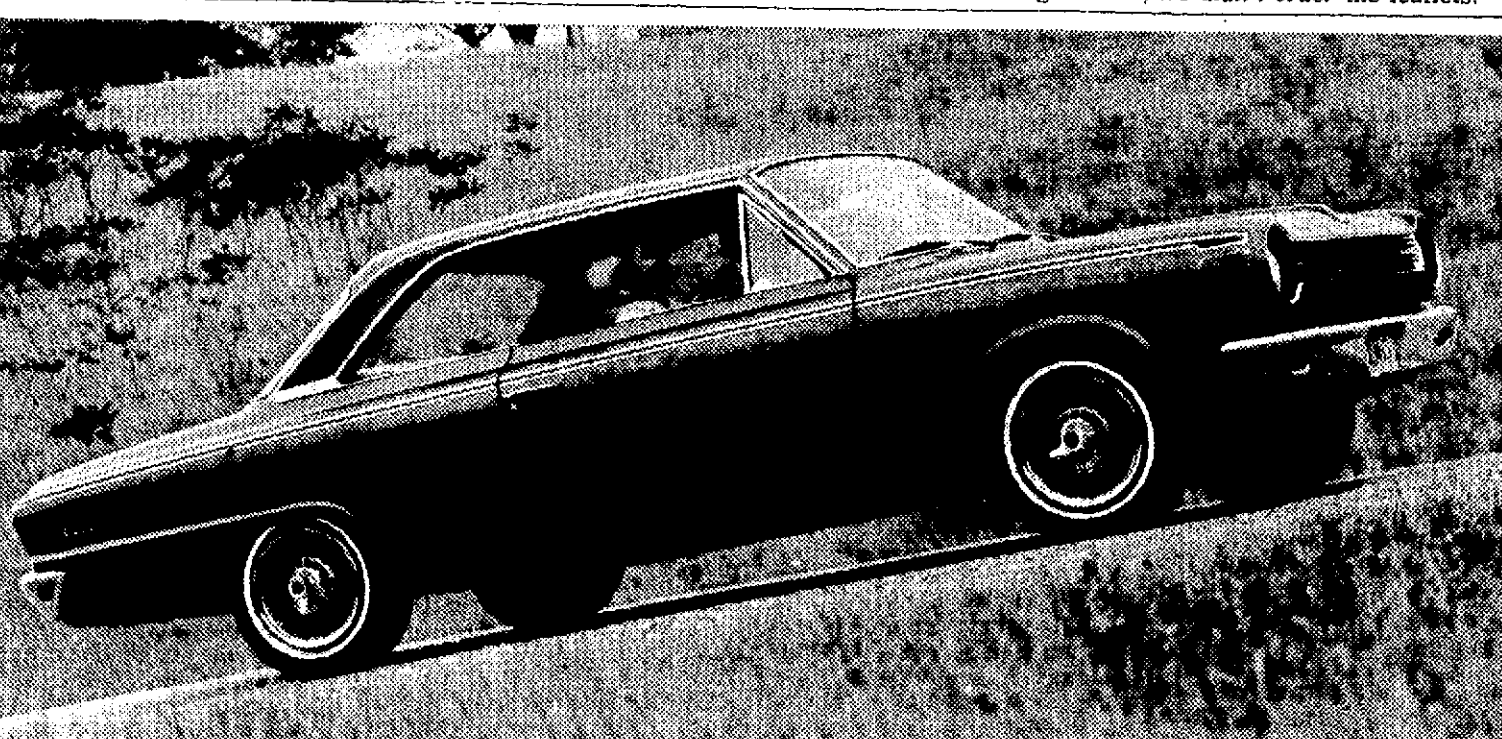

More than 200 Cubans have defected via Gander, where airlines flying between Havana and Eastern Europe customarily stop. The Canadian government grants the defectors temporary asylum in Canada while they make arrangements to join the thousands of Cuban refugees in the United States.

government of Louisville, Ky.

In Washington, John M. Bailey, the Democratic national chairman, said the leaflets represented a "desperate last-minute effort by Goldwater supporters to get Negroes to waste their votes."

In Trenton, N.J., Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Sills, a Democrat, said he was investigating a printer's statement that an official of the Republican National Committee had ordered 1.4 million copies of the leaflet.

But Lee Edwards, assistant press secretary of the Republican committee, said: "We certainly have no knowledge of it. We didn't order the leaflets."

CHATTER

By "Bill"

This is our 5th year in business. We have witnessed changes of all sorts, highs and lows in both economics and fashions. We have tried to avoid taking sides in any of it, hoping against hope to reach a happy medium and please as many of the people as much of the time as possible.

Even this season's styles have us all in a dither. In our small establishment, we find ourselves a house divided. The ones that like the slim, unbelled look think it is smart and sophisticated looking. The ones that do not like it have a hard time concealing the attitude. "If you want to look like an old or young bag, that's your business." (This last group sometimes intimates the wearer might need to be at home knitting little things.)

Having been informed by history as to exactly what happens to divided houses, we have come to the conclusion that there are styles for everyone. Really, this is a most exciting season... the very same style that brings out the good points will help cover up the undesirable ones; and it is anybody's guess whether you will look best with or without a belt, in a slim skirt or a full one, a lavishly fur-trimmed coat or a perfectly tailored one, pants for shopping and evening or just for sports... at any rate, you will be in for a surprise (and every woman loves surprises)... go shopping today! And while you are out be sure and Vote.

Then come by Raley's Style Shoppe and browse through all our new winter and Holiday fashions.

Our winter coats are smart in style, made of lovely fabrics, have magical millum linings that will keep you warm and secure from winter winds. The off-white Enigma wool with the natural white mink ring collar will start you dreaming of a "White Christmas" and the price of $100.00 is really low. One attractive ensemble is the length tweed walking coat with matching skirt and pure silk blouse simply stunning at $59.95, other suits from $29.95 up. And to give that touch of elegance add a fur by Tauben, shown exclusively at Raley's in Boa, Stole and Jacket styles, of Broadtail, mink and squirrel.

The printed silk blouse and velvet slacks, styled by Koret of California in Berry Red and Emerald green are a must, when you are entertaining "at home" for the holidays.

Then there are pants made from the two-faced fabric, bonded flannel with acetate tricot backing which feels wonderful and fits like a glove, beautiful colors and all sorts of sweaters and blouses to match — Misses and Junior sizes.

It is truly fun to shop this season; we will be looking for you at Raley's Style Shoppe, Hope's House of Fashion.

California Voting on Housing Bill

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — California's vote on housing discrimination captures top national interest today among a host of state election issues ranging from gambling to the gas chamber.

In addition to the controversial proposal to kill anti-discrimination housing laws, Californians also decide whether to set up a state-franchised lottery and whether to prohibit pay television.

Other gambling proposals in Arkansas, Washington and Massachusetts, and Oregon's proposal to abolish the death sentence, are among the 250 state-wide issues on the ballot in 40 states.

Various other states vote on emergency government proposals in case of nuclear attack, repeal of so-called railroad full crew laws and a number of multimillion-dollar bond issues for state construction.

California's housing amendment was attacked as sinful by Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King. It was also opposed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown and California's two U.S. senators, Republican Thomas H. Kuchel and Democrat Pierre Salinger. The California Real Estate Association supported the amendment, saying the present anti-discrimination law "amounts to seizure of private property."

The Arkansas gambling proposal would legalize casinos only in the resort city of Hot Springs. Washington's would allow licensing of bingo, card games, punch boards and pin-ball machines all over the state.

The Massachusetts vote on whether to continue allowing counties to hold horse or dog races with parimutuel betting comes up every two years. Proposals for emergency government procedures in case of nuclear war were being voted on in Florida, Illinois, Massachusetts, Nevada and Utah.

"DEAR ABBY"

AVOID THEM!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: We are new in town. Last evening my husband's foreman and his wife dropped in on us unexpectedly. We were not prepared for company. When I served some soft drinks, the man hinted that he wanted something "stronger." We didn't have anything in the house, so my husband took him to the corner bar and left me with the wife. She talked bad about everybody at the plant. I didn't even know half the people she gossiped about. She told me I ought to "do something" with my hair, which hurt my feelings because my hair is very thin and there's not much I can do with it. Then she asked me when I waxed my floors last and I told her I had waxed them that morning. She said, "They look terrible. You should try my brand."

The men were gone three hours. When they came back this couple stayed until 1:30 a.m., although I said several times my husband had to get up at 6:00 a.m. for work. Do you think it was right of my husband to have left me there all evening with that woman? What if they drop in again? I don't care to associate with her. My head still aches from last night.

HEADACHE

Dear Headache: Tell your husband that if he likes the man, fine, but you don't want a four-some-type friendship with them. If they drop in again, you go lie down and let your husband answer the door and tell them that you are "resting." And if he wishes to entertain the pair of them, tell him he is welcome to.

Dear Abby: I am a 14-year-old girl and I was wondering if you think it is fair for a girl's mother to judge a boy by the way he dresses. My mother doesn't like a certain boy for that reason and I don't think it is fair.

JR. HIGH GIRL

Dear Girl: A boy's dress is an indication of his home environment, his character, personal hygiene and self-esteem. Listen to your mother, Honey, and you won't go wrong.

Dear Abby: I wish you would write something about bossy women who rule the roost and ruin their children. My sister is the mother of three boys. If her husband tells them to do something, she tells them to do the opposite. Many times I have heard her say, "I don't care WHAT your father said, you'll do as I say!" And they do, too. No wonder those children are confused and nervous. Is there any way I can help?

SISTER MARY
Dear Sister: Perhaps, but this is NOT your problem, so be careful. I would tell both your sister and her husband what you have observed and how you see the effects of their (probably unintentional) conflict. Having done that, say no more and hope for the best.

Confidential To Sylvia: There is nothing wrong with putting all your eggs in one basket — if you keep your eye on the basket.

Voting in Arkansas Is Very Heavy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansans rushed to the polls in apparent record numbers today to vote in the general election.

Many cities reported very heavy early turnouts. In Blytheville, it was estimated that 12 per cent of the qualified voters cast their ballots in the first 45 minutes after the polls opened.

Secretary of State Kelly Bryant had predicted the turnout might hit 510,000. Republican sources estimated 525,000.

A total of 715,528 Arkansans paid poll taxes. The Arkansas record is 406,572 in 1956. In 1960, 394,000 voted.

The polls opened at 8 a.m., close at 6:30 p.m.

In Little Rock, the pilot of a helicopter used by Radio Station KMYO to monitor traffic during rush hours made a pass over the polling places and reported extremely heavy turnouts.

At one precinct about 50 persons were lined up outside. At another, traffic was blocked in both directions. All parking lots around one precinct were jammed and voters were double parking on a narrow street.

Berryville reported 15.6 per cent of its eligible voters cast ballots in the first hour.

In Jonesboro, lines of people stretched out of doors of almost every polling place. More than 1,000 absentee ballots were cast in Craighead County, out of 16,386 who paid poll taxes.

The weather in Arkansas was favorable. Overcast skies were reported, but there was no rain. Temperatures were in the 50s.

Fort Smith reported an extremely heavy turnout. Election officials predicted a record 23,000 votes, 3,000 more than in the 1960 presidential election. A record 1,200 absentee ballots were cast in Sebastian County.

Stuttgart reported 324 votes cast in the first hour — a heavier turnout than usual. In some precincts, voters were reported ignoring new cardboard voting booths and marking their ballots on tables as they have done for years.

The voting booths were bought by county election commissions in many counties this year for the first time.

Warren reported the vote turnout was about normal for a presidential election, but most of the voting in the milltown traditionally is done late in the afternoon. The turnout was expected to be between 4,500 and 5,000.

Paragould reported a turnout 20 per cent heavier than in the 1960 election. Some 360 cast absentee ballots out of a total Greene County registration of 9,971.

Two polling places in Brinkley were jammed and carloads of people were still arriving. Hot races for alderman boosted the turnout, officials thought. The turnout was about 20 per cent higher than in the summer primaries.

In El Dorado, precincts reported 90 to 100 voters each in the first hour — "very brisk," one official said. Some 1,200 absentee votes were cast in Union County.

At Newport, there were no lines at the polls, but 130 had voted by 9 a.m. compared to 307 by 11 a.m. in the 1960 general election.

BERLIN (AP) — Two trains collided Sunday night in Communist East Germany, killing 39 persons and injuring more than 100 others, some seriously.

The official East German news agency ADN said the accident occurred at Langhagen, 40 miles south of the Baltic port of Rostock. A freight train overran a stop signal and crashed into the Berlin-Rostock express.

BERLIN (AP) — British European Airways has started daily service between London and Berlin despite East German protests that civilian flights to the Communist-surrounded city are illegal.

A Viscount turbo-prop plane carrying 35 passengers made the initial flight from London Sunday without incident.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A U.S. cargo plane from the Philippines with two pilots aboard developed engine trouble Sunday and the pilots ditched it in the Formosa Strait about 15 miles south of the Pescadore Islands.

The U.S. Taiwan Defense Command said Chinese Nationalist and U.S. search planes located the pilots and a ship picked them up unhurt less than three hours after they ditched.

Johnson to Vote in His Own Precinct

By FRANK CORMIER

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson took seven minutes today to vote Democratic all the way in his hill country polling place.

Accompanied by his wife, the President drove his own auto to the headquarters of the Pedernales Electric Cooperative, a rural electrification system he helped set up nearly 30 years ago, to cast the ballot.

He said in advance he would vote the straight ticket "from the court house to the White House."

His wife voted the straight Democratic ticket, too.

There was no secret about the way the Johnsons voted. Reporters were permitted to peer over their shoulders.

The chief executive fully expects to make a victory statement.

Johnson and Lady Bird spent the night at their ranch home, 15 miles west of here, after winding up their campaign — a family enterprise all the way — with a roaring street rally in Austin.

To the tens of thousands massed before him in the shadow of the floodlit Capitol, Johnson said there was "a stillness on the earth" as millions awaited the decision of an estimated 71 million American voters.

"On that decision," he said, "rests our future... and the future of our children." He declared that the same could be said for people in other lands.

Earlier, Johnson had made three after-dark speeches in Houston, pledging "my total commitment to preserve peace while protecting freedom."

Before flying to Texas to draw the curtain on his 44-state campaign, Johnson filmed at the White House a paid political message heard and seen by television viewers coast to coast Monday night.

The talk featured a special appeal that Republicans who want to preserve the GOP voice at the polls "overwhelming repudiation of the small minority which has seized your party and intends to keep it."

Johnson did not mention Sen. Barry Goldwater, his Republican rival, but he obviously was referring to Goldwater and his associates.

After his Austin speech, Johnson went to the Driskill Hotel to mix with old friends and Texas politicians at a private party.

Waiting outside the hotel was the red-uniformed band of Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos, the President's alma mater. He listened appreciatively while the musicians gave a sedate rendition of the college anthem, then swung into a rousing fight song.

The Johnsons flew by helicopter to their ranch, 65 miles west of Austin, after midnight.

How do we read prescriptions?

According to some of our customers, prescriptions aren't written—they're doodles. Yet your pharmacist looks at the cryptic scribbles and calmly reaches for a bottle. The right bottle. Prescriptions are written in a special international language known to physicians and pharmacists... a kind of universal, standardized shorthand that's grammar- and penmanship-proof. It exists so any registered pharmacist anywhere can fill your prescription accurately. That's how we're always able to give you just the drug your physician prescribes, and why the directions are always correct. We are pleased to serve you whenever prescription medication is required.

Hubert Raps Loud-Mouth Anti-Reds

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey says a final campaign call on Manhattan today, saying Americans will repudiate "loud-mouthed anti-Communists who would risk nuclear annihilation."

Humphrey slated a two-hour vote drive in the city's garment district, long a favorite vote-hunting ground.

The he takes his vice-presidential campaign votes in quest of 81 electoral votes in eight states that voted Republican four years ago. If his schedule holds firm, Humphrey will not return to Washington until after Election Day.

Humphrey, in remarks prepared for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union scored those he described as "prophets of defeat beating the cracked drum of disunity, saying that Americans were sick and tired, bitter and frustrated, attacking our political leaders as traitors, fascists, crooks, liars and fools."

He said the Cuban missile crisis of October 1962 "made it clear that the American people want leaders who share their quiet courage, who combine commitment and readiness to act firmly with prudence and patience. They do not want jingoism, loud-mouthed anti-Communism who would risk nuclear annihilation because they lack the bravery of reasonable action."

Humphrey did not refer to Sen. Barry Goldwater or the Republican party by name in his prepared text. He was more specific Wednesday night, however, at a rally where he denounced the "puny little minds and dirty little souls" he said have been waging character attacks on President Johnson.

Speaking in Falls Church, Va., a Washington suburb, he said "the Republican ship was boarded by the pirates at San Francisco" when Goldwater became the party's presidential nominee.

"Name any piece of constructive legislation that passed the 87th or the 88th Congresses, and you can bet your life that the senator from Arizona voted no, no no!" Humphrey shouted.

"By its refusal to condemn the lunatic fringe of American politics, the Goldwater party Sunday.

Previous official announcements said that 31 Americans were wounded in the mortar barrage which also killed four Americans and destroyed or damaged 27 aircraft.

A military spokesman said today that 18 of the wounded were hospitalized. The others returned to duty after treatment.

He turned his head quickly, startled and puzzled. He was hearing footsteps again. As Craig watched, the black shape of a man appeared on the edge of the road, at the corner of the lot.

The man was walking toward the water, trying to be quiet, turning his head from side to side. And suddenly Craig's face was hot.

"Lew!" He whispered it.

has permitted into its ranks those individuals and organizations whose stock in trade is the politics of hate," he charged. "And it makes no difference whether they're Communists or Birchites — they hate America and all it stands for."

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — A regiment staged an uprising in La Paz today but the government announced shortly thereafter that the regimental commanders surrendered and the revolt is over.

The uprising was in the Ingavi regiment of Lapaz, the broadcast said. There were unconfirmed reports the high command of the armed forces was involved.

A series of student and miner uprisings against the government of President Victor Paz Estenssoro has torn the country for the past two weeks.

Theoryically if the hot line had to be used in the near future, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would be the man at the other end since he is the head of the Soviet government.

There is also a duplex radio circuit which would be used as a fallback channel in case the land line between the Pentagon and Moscow should break down at a critical moment.

The theory behind creation of the special communications channel is that in a moment of extreme danger the ability of the President of the United States and the leaders of the Soviet Union to send messages to each other directly and in secret might help to avoid actions which would plunge the world into nuclear war.

The agreement to establish a line was reached following the Cuban missile crisis of October 1962. During the exchanges between the late President John F. Kennedy and former Premier Khrushchev some messages were given out publicly as soon as they were dispatched to one capital or the other because news wires could transmit them so much more quickly than they could be handled through ordinary diplomatic channels.

The hot line, which is tested every day, is actually two telegraph circuits which can readily handle messages in both directions.

Craig gestured, conveying a wordless message to Lew. Lew nodded, understanding Craig's intention. While the water went on flowing, they eased themselves closer. They waited until Becker turned the spigot off, until they knew he would be handicapped by the weight of the bucket lugged in one hand. Then suddenly, both at once, they launched themselves.

Becker was moving away with his back to them. They met him with an unexpected force that staggered him. He dropped the bucket; the splash and spill of water drenched Craig's legs.

Meet in Darkness

By Stephen Ransome

XXXII
Staying out of sight behind the corner of the building, Craig heard Eva's engine bubble off. A minute of quiet was followed by creaking noises from the pier; the boat was being made fast. Two men spoke to each other briefly, in low tones. Next there were steady, rapid footfalls on the planking, coming closer. Not both men, — just one of them. He went on across the packed sand and around to the rear of the shop. The driver's door of the truck closed with a tinny slam, the engine began clattering, a shine of headlights appeared. Craig had shifted along his side of the building. Leaning past the corner, he saw the truck turning out of the lot in the direction of Valencia Avenue — with only one of its two taillights showing.

He recalled the night when Sandor had disappeared, when the attache case had been tossed into the street just in time to see a car disappearing around the curve of the street with only one taillight burning.

This was the clincher. He went quietly back to the spot where he could see Eva without being seen. The man who had stayed behind to act as guard was moving about the afterdeck. He was barrel-chested but otherwise lean; his shoulders drooped and his arms dangled. Ches Becker.

The other man who had driven off in the truck had to be Win Shepard. Continuing to respond to the signal, he had undoubtedly gone off to leave another note of instructions somewhere and to make a phone call telling one of the Sandor group where to find it.

Should he slip away and call the police? It might turn out to be a fatal mistake if Sandor wasn't aboard. For all Craig knew, Shepard might have a second accomplice standing over Sandor at some unknown point with orders to kill if Shepard and Becker failed to return.

Craig stood in the darkness, pressing his fists to his temples, asking himself how, how? The danger in that lighted approach to the pier was insurmountable.

He turned his head quickly, startled and puzzled. He was hearing footsteps again. As Craig watched, the black shape of a man appeared on the edge of the road, at the corner of the lot.

The man was walking toward the water, trying to be quiet, turning his head from side to side. And suddenly Craig's face was hot.

Warren Tilt Is Big One for Bobcats

The Division 4AA football championship is likely to be decided this Friday night when the league-leading Hope Bobcats clash with the challenging Warren Lumberjacks on the Jacks home field. Hope goes into the contest with a 6-0 loop mark and Warren stands 4-1.

After this game Hope will have only winless Arkadelphia remaining on their schedule. Warren will have Arkadelphia and Magnolia remaining to play.

A Warren victory would likely throw the race into a three-way tie. Malvern, the other once-beaten member, defeated Warren. Hope defeated Malvern.

Hope with a victory could sew up its second straight 4AA title.

In other action this week Arkadelphia plays at Fairview in a loop contest. Non-league games include Malvern host to Benton; Magnolia goes to Nashville; and Smackover plays at Hamburg. Camden and Crossett are open.

Results last week: Conference — Hope 27 Camden 6; Magnolia 13 Fairview 6; Smackover 6 Crossett 6 (tie). Non-conference: Fordyce 14 Warren 7; Gurdon 54 Arkadelphia 25.

For the first time this season a new leader has taken over the individual scoring leadership. Hope's Jerry Burnett with 63 points replaces Malvern's Phil Clem who dropped to second with 61 points. David McMurry of Warren continues in third with 48 points.

Malvern leads the league in team scoring with 180 points. Hope is second with 153, and Warren third with 117.

Warren leads the league in rushing with 1,546 yards and Hope leads in passing with 738 yards. Warren leads in defense against rushing allowing 888 yards.

THE STANDINGS: (4AA)

Team	W	L	T
Hope Bobcats	6	0	0
Malvern Leopards	5	1	0
Warren Lumberjacks	4	1	0
Magnolia Panthers	3	3	0
Camden Panthers	2	3	1
Smackover Bucks	2	3	1
Crossett Eagles	2	4	1
Fairview Cardinals	0	4	1

Guernsey Wins 2 at Willisville

In three thrilling basketball games played Monday night at Willisville Guernsey took two home.

In the Junior girls game Guernsey won 33 to 9 with Coleman high for Guernsey with 24 points, and Bailey high for Willisville with 6.

The senior Willisville girls overwhelmed Guernsey 72 to 38. Goodwin was high for the winner with 33 and Black high for looser with 19.

The Guernsey senior boys topped Willisville 57 to 43 for the last match of the night. For Guernsey, Coleman was high with 18, and Willisville's Clark was high with 11.

Tonight (Tuesday) at 6:30 Spring Hill plays three games at Guernsey.

Baylor and Texas Lead Statistics

DALLAS (AP) — Baylor continues to lead the offense and Texas the defense in Southwest Conference football while Texas Christian is showing balance.

In other words TCU is gaining about as much yardage as it gives up, so the Horned Frogs have come out even—two conference victories, two losses.

TCU also shows a balance on offense that's quite remarkable. The Frogs have averaged 257.8 yards per game and are the only team over the 100-yard mark in both rushing and passing.

The Frogs average 142.7 on offense and are in second place in the new Southland Conference.

The No. 1 small college team is Wittenberg.

Yankee Club Now Owned by the CBS

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees have passed into the hands of CBS. Yogi Berra has put his contract in the hands of the Yankees and Whitey Ford has put his shoulder in the hands of surgeons.

The much-discussed, much-criticized purchase of the Yankees by CBS became official Monday with only a terse, 54-word statement confirming the transaction that brought co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb $11.2 million for 80 per cent of the club.

There had been speculation that the transaction might bring about an antitrust suit. The Justice Department has acknowledged that it is investigating the sale but has given no indication as to its ultimate decision.

Under the terms of the deal, Topping remains president of the Yankees with a five-year contract while Ralph Houk, who was raised to vice president, also will continue as general manager.

Berra, who was not allowed to continue as manager and was replaced by Johnny Keane, signed a two-year contract with the Yankees to serve as a special field consultant.

However, rumors still persisted that Berra might wind up reuniting with Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Mets by serving as a coach under the former Yankee field boss.

The rumors were given added impetus by the disclosure that Berra's contract has a clause stipulating he is free to break the contract if he wants to.

The president of the Mets, George Weiss, announced last week that he had conferred with Berra about joining the National League club. Weiss said Berra, who is on a golfing vacation in Pinchurst, N. C. had asked for time to consider the offer.

A pitching 36-year-old ace lefthander who led the opening game of the World Series and did not pitch again, finished hospital tests on his ailing left shoulder and will undergo an operation in Houston next week to correct a condition diagnosed as "an arterial blockage."

Surgery was recommended after Ford's left arm was examined for five days by a team of specialists.

Ford's future, however, remained clouded. The full extent of his troubles won't be known until the surgeons have their look. If the doctors do not have to cut muscle to correct the ailment, the operation could be relatively simple.

Notre Dame Tops List in Football

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame, assured of its first winning season since 1958, stormed to the top of The Associated Press major college football poll today, gaining a narrow margin over Ohio State, leader for the previous two weeks.

The revitalized Irish, unbeaten in six games, drew 29 of 48 first-place votes and 460 points in the weekly poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. The Buckeyes, also 6-0, received 11 votes for the top spot and 424 points over-all.

Notre Dame moved to the front with a surprisingly easy 40-0 triumph over Navy last Saturday. At the same time, Ohio State had trouble outlasting Iowa 21-19.

The next four teams in last week's rankings held their positions—Alabama third, Arkansas fourth, Nebraska fifth and Texas as sixth. Oregon, No. 7 last week, dropped from the Top Ten as a result of its 10-8 loss to Stanford.

Georgia Tech climbed from eighth to seventh, Louisiana State ninth to eighth and Florida 10th to ninth. Purdue took over the No. 10 spot.

The Irish have four games to go in their bid for their first unbeaten season since 1953 and their first unbeaten, untied year since 1949 when they last won the national championship.

Coming dramatically to life under Coach Ara Parseghian after an extended period of mediocrity, Notre Dame has won six games for the first time since 1958 when its final record was 6-4. The Irish will try and make Pitt their seventh victim this Saturday at Pittsburgh. Michigan State, Iowa and Southern California follow on the schedule.

The Irish have moved to the head of the nation's major college teams behind the record-breaking passing combination of quarterback John Huarte and end Jack Snow, neither of whom did anything outstanding last season.

"The ability was there, of course," said Parseghian, "but they never were able to distinguish themselves."

Top Ten teams with first-place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8 basis:

1. Notre Dame (29) 460
2. Ohio State (11) 424
3. Alabama (7) 385
4. Arkansas (1) 310
5. Nebraska 259
6. Texas 250
7. Georgia Tech 174
8. La. State 116
9. Florida 90
10. Purdue 85

Wittenberg Tops Small College List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unbeaten Wittenberg Tigers rolled over Ohio Wesleyan 40-7 last Saturday and rolled over the opposition again in the weekly Associated Press small-college football poll.

The Tigers commanded first-place votes on 12 of the 16 ballots Monday from a panel of writers and broadcasters. No other team had more than one.

Although Wittenberg continued to hold firm to the top spot with 139 points, Prairie View of Texas and Florida A&M remained strong contenders in second and third place, respectively, with 104 and 102 points.

The Top Ten teams with first-place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8 basis:

1. Wittenberg (12) 139
2. Prairie View 104
3. Florida A&M (1) 102
4. Louisiana Tech (1) 98
5. San Diego State 70

Ouachita's Homecoming Postponed

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — The sports department at Ouachita Baptist College said Monday that Homecoming activities scheduled for Saturday had been postponed until Thanksgiving.

A Ouachita official said Homecoming was set back because of the traffic deaths Saturday of the wives of two Ouachita football players and the fiancée of another.

The Ouachita-Arkansas Tech game scheduled Saturday will be played.

The Tigers play Henderson on Thanksgiving.

Tulane May Lose Post in Conference

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Southeastern Conference probably will ask Tulane University of New Orleans to resign or disassociate itself from the league when it meets in Atlanta in January, the Birmingham Post-Herald said in today's editions.

In a story by sports editor Bill Lumpkin, the newspaper said the action probably will be taken because Tulane does not meet the requirement of a minimum of six SEC games on its 1965 football schedule.

Tulane meets the specification for 1965.

Article 10 of the SEC by-laws says "Each member institution must schedule a minimum of six conference football games each year."

SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore said he would have no comment.

Tulane Athletic Director Rix Yarb said of the Post-Herald story: "I know of no official word from SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore or President Ralph B. Draughon of Auburn."

"Tulane's position regarding remaining in the conference is the same today as it was last week. I know of no plans for Tulane's withdrawal from the conference."

When Tulane released its 1965 and 1966 schedules last week, it was noted that only three SEC teams were on the 1966 list, in addition to former SEC member Georgia Tech.

Tulane has not won a league game since 1961, and has lost 24 of its last 26 outings.

Jerry Lamb Returns to Hog Lineup

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Split end Jerry Lamb, out with a pulled muscle since the Texas game, worked out Monday and Razorback trainer Bill Ferrell said Lamb would probably be able to play Saturday.

Ferrell also said defensive end Jim Finch, who turned an ankle last week, should see action against Rice in the Saturday afternoon game here.

Freshman coach Jack Davis gave the Razorbacks — fourth-rated team in the nation — a brief workout.

Bill Pace, offensive backfield coach, said Rice has a tough defense, and pointed out that in four games at Houston the Owls have not given up a touchdown. Their foes were Texas, Louisiana State, West Virginia and Texas Tech.

The Razorbacks will be shooting for a 7-0 record against the Owls—and move one game closer to an undisputed first place in the Southwest Conference.

Made It in Time for Operation

HARDY, Ark. (AP) — Dennis A. Darrin, a 21-year-old airman from Portland, Ore., made it to Walnut Ridge Saturday in time to get his appendix taken out, but he could have developed an ulcer getting there.

Darrin, taking part in the Army-Air Force joint maneuver, Gold Fire I, was being flown by helicopter to Walnut Ridge from West Plains, Mo., when the pilot had to make an emergency landing near here.

Another helicopter came to his aid, and aboard the second craft was the man who later performed the surgery, Air Force Lt. Col. William V. Reja.

Rice Tough to Score on Says Scout

College football scouts don't seem to be able to find anything wrong with the opposition, especially before a game.

They were ecstatic in telling Southwest Conference teams about the great opponents they would be meeting Saturday.

Rice plays Arkansas at Fayetteville and while the Owls haven't won a game in two weeks, Coach Bill Pace of Arkansas said Rice had a tough defense and he intimated he just couldn't figure how a touchdown could be scored against it.

The last four foes haven't gotten a touchdown, he pointed out, but didn't mention the fact that Rice hasn't been able to keep the opposition far enough away that it can't kick field goals.

Rice lost to Texas and was tied by Texas Tech through field goals.

At the other end of the line Coach Nick Lanza was telling the Rice team what a great outfit Arkansas was.

The most lavish report of a scout was that of Coach Berl Huffman of Texas Tech, who frightened the Red Raiders with a statement that West Texas State, the opponent Saturday night, had three backs "faster than the fabulous Pete Pedro, who beat Tech a couple of years ago."

And he added that Russ Mundy, the great West Texas fullback, could be compared to Jim Brown, the great pro player.

Coach Darrell Royal of Texas was worrying about offense — his and Baylor's. "Our offense is going to have to be more productive than it has been to beat them," M o a n e d Royal. "The question is how? I don't know."

Royal blamed the lack of offense of key players being out with injuries, but said the situation might better Saturday when Texas plays Baylor at Waco.

Baylor's injury situation also showed improvement and they went to the practice field.

Southern Methodist and Texas Bears emphasized defense when A&M play at Dallas Saturday and both teams should be in fighting trim. Neither got any injuries in their losing efforts last week.

They were pretty carefree at Texas Christian, where all the boys did was run some sprints. But the Frogs don't play anybody this week.

Braves in Fight to Go to Atlanta

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Braves, checked by at temporary restraining order in attempts to move to Atlanta, have claimed in a court reply that Milwaukee County broke an agreement that requires the National League baseball team to play its 1965 home games in County Stadium.

The Braves said an "unwelcome, antibaseball atmosphere was developed (in Milwaukee) as a result of reckless, irresponsible statements by county leaders and others."

The Braves' arguments were contained in an answer filed Monday in U.S. District Court in Milwaukee, and made public at the Braves' offices in Chicago.

In related developments: John McHale, the Braves' president and general manager, said the club's 1964 tax return will show a loss estimated at half a million dollars.

Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., asked Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to "take the leadership" in presenting to a special meeting of major league owners this week a three-point plan for expansion of baseball by next season, for a player draft and for pooling television revenue.

And Milwaukee County Board Chairman Eugene Grobschmidt discussed possible antitrust developments in a letter with Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of a House judiciary subcommittee.

The Braves said in their court reply that while the rental contract for County Stadium runs through Dec. 31, 1965, there was "an implied covenant that the County of Milwaukee would not interfere with, obstruct or frustrate the Braves' enjoyment of the lease."

They argue that Grobschmidt, "in malicious disregard of such covenant, broadcast public statements implying that persons of responsibility in the Braves' management were deliberately trying to have the Braves not win games."

The club also said that McHale had moved his family from their new home after "Flagrant, open and notorious public hostility to this defendant engendered by this (county's) attitude."

The Braves said that by "these various breaches, the County of Milwaukee deprived the Braves of its lawful rights and relieved it from any further performance under the lease."

Grobschmidt and other county officials declined comment.

The National League has put off until the court actions are completed any decision on the Braves' plans to move to Atlanta.
